NO MARKS FOUND SURPRISE IN STORE

Mysterious Death of a Farmer in Graves County Last Night.

Got Up to Look After His Horses and Found at Daylight with His Eyes Eaten Out.

NO INQUEST HELD YET

W. M. Harris, a prominent farmer residing about five miles out of Mayfield, heard a noise in his barn last night at midnight and thinking some one was after his horses arose and went out to investigate.

His wife was awakened at his rising but soon after went to sleep again. When she awoke this morning he had not returned to bed and becoming alarmed she went in search for him. His body was found lying in the middle of the road directly in front of his house and the hogs had eaten out of his eyes. No other marks about his body could be seen as the people would not make an examination before the coroner was summoned and at present time he had not made a report.

No noise was heard about the place to indicate a struggle, if he had been foully dealt with, and it is the belief that he died of heart trouble. He leaves a wife and five children and was about 50 years of age.

COW VOTE

Ballots are Falling to Seal the Fate of the Town Cow

The Vote Polled Will Probably Not Be Very Large.

The vote for and against allowing cows to run at large inside the city limits of Paducah is being taken today. The polls opened at 7 a. m. and voting was slow.

There was little, if any, enthusiasm manifested anywhere, but if the people turn out as they should, it is believed that the cow will be voted out by an overwhelming majority.

The polls close at 5 p. m., and if you have not voted and it is not too late, no time should be lost. The vote will be counted at once, and the result will probably be known early this evening.

This afternoon at press time the vote was still small and it seems that those against the cow are in the lead. At the South Side of the court house there had been 89 votes cast, 50 of which were for the ordinance and against the cow running at large, leaving 39 votes for the cow.

On the North side, where 70 votes were cast, only one had voted for the cow, the remaining 69 being for the ordinance.

Mechanicsburg will naturally go against the ordinance, but the vote there is small.

At Henneberger's there were 63 votes, yes, and 20 against the ordinance.

At Gallman's there were 92 in favor of the ordinance and 6 against it.

American Express Messengers Will Get a Good Raise.

The First Will be in Their Salaries for the Present Month.

WILL BE A PLEASANT SURPRISE

When the express messengers of the American Express Co. get their pay for the month of September there will not be a greater surprised lot of men in the country, for they will have been raised in salary from $5 to $15 a man per month.

Mr. C. F. Abbott, the route agent for this division of the American Express Co., stated this morning that the raise would come as a complete surprise, as the men had not yet been apprised of it.

"The increase will amount anywhere from $5 to $15 per man," Mr. Abbott said, "and it is safe to say they will fully appreciate the action of the company." The pay of the express messengers is good, but they have a great deal of responsibility and worry and are rarely off duty. The increase is deserved and is the result of much consideration on the part of the company. The increase was effective the 1st of the present month, but the men will not know until the pay for the month has been given them.

POLICE COURT

The McCann-Hinton Case Settled This Morning.

A Number of Minor Offenses Investigated By Judge Sanders.

The most important case in police court this morning was the breach of the peace case against John McCann and J. C. Hinton.

It will be remembered that Hinton was caught in McCann's house by the latter who ran him down and gave him a beating. There was little testimony introduced and Judge Sanders after a short speech on the subject fined McCann $1 and costs and dismissed the case against Hinton. The evidence introduced did not show that Hinton had ever been warned by McCann to remain away from his house and did not show that the McCann woman and Hinton were in a compromising position and consequently, according to Judge Sanders, view of the testimony, did not justify McCann in making the attack. Hinton's case was dismissed and McCann was fined $1 and costs.

G. A. Allen, white, was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

Mr. John Terrell and Mrs. Nellie Brantly were fined $5 and costs each for a breach of the peace. She slapped Mr. Terrell's little son without provocation and Mr. Terrell, when she went to him and boasted of it slapped her.

Mary Miller, who is alleged to have stolen from Carrie Miller a pocket book and a feather boa was held over to the circuit court for the offense.

Pat Moore, colored, was arraigned for false swearing, in a gaming case, and the case continued until tomorrow.

Harry Price, colored, who went to a neighbor's house, it is alleged, and used profane and insulting language, was arraigned on that charge and the case dismissed.

Bernice Caldwell, colored, was given $5 and costs for disorderly conduct. Ed Carroll and H. Parsons, white, were fined $5 and costs each for disorderly conduct. They were found asleep in a box car.

Ed Perkins, colored, was fined $20 and costs for breach of the peace.

Kelley Jackson was fined $20 and costs for gaming.

Dye Mitcherson, colored, was fined $20 and costs for gaming.

—Your neighbor will be at the auction sale of lots tomorrow. Will you?

BLACK BEAST BAKED

Tom Clark Expiates a Diabolical Crime at the Stake---Killed and Outraged Mrs. Cary Whitfield Near Corinth Miss.

Corinth, Miss., Sept. 29—Tom Clark, alias Gibson, colored, who lived near here, was burned at the stake yesterday afternoon for the heinous murder of Mrs. Cary Whitfield, a beautiful and highly respected lady of near Corinth. He was caught at home Saturday, several days after the crime, and confessed. He said to officers: "Yes, sir, I killed Mrs. Whitfield. I killed her to keep her from telling on me. I went there for the purpose of robbing the house. I thought everybody was away from home. I didn't expect to see her. When I saw her and she saw me I asked her for a saw. She was partly undressed. She unlocked the front door and soon returned with a pistol and told me to get the saw and leave the place. She started away and I told her I would not hurt her, that what I wanted was money, and I wanted her to tell me where it was."

"She said, 'take the saw and leave.' I advanced toward her offering her the saw which was in my hand. She reached for it and I grabbed her. She then began to call for Mary, who was a servant. We had got near the well in the front yard by this time. I grabbed her around the neck and dragged her into the house. I choked her and when I let her go she fell on the floor. I asked her if she was going to tell me where the money was. She was unconscious by this time. Then I assaulted her."

"She had dropped the pistol as soon as the struggle began. I saw a razor in the drawer of the dresser and cut her throat with it. She was nearly dead when I cut her. I went through the drawers of the dresser and searched every place where I thought money was likely to be found. I found about 45 cents. I took the pistol that she had dropped, and left the place. I first went through the woods to the M. and O. railroad, then doubled back and came through the woods to the road and went home."

The people almost went mad when the details of the atrocious crime became known, and decided to burn the prisoner. The hour set for the execution was 4 o'clock. J. H. Henning, brother of the murdered young woman, had been selected to set the match to the fagots. Clark was assisted to the scaffold. Chains were passed around his neck, waist and lower limbs, the same being securely locked. The scaffold was constructed of the iron of a railroad switch, being the inside frame of a switch placed in an upright position. To the iron cross bars the negro was chained so that there was no chance of the scaffold falling to the ground from the fires. The front of the scaffold was supported by a cross tie driven in the ground and underneath the floor was piled the wood.

It was 2:25 p. m. when Clark mounted the scaffold. McCann told the crowd that Clark had something to say. When Cary Whitfield saw him he shrieked for vengeance, pulled his hair and wept. Friends consoled him.

The murderer said: "I would rather all of you to stand out and shoot me dead or hang me than to burn me."

The mob cried: "Burn him." John Timberlake addressed the crowd, reading Clark's last letters. Being the master of ceremonies he gave positive instructions that a shot was not to be fired and in order to make sure he took all the shells out of his followers' guns.

The time was nearly up. Clark stood with a meek expression on his face. His head was held on one side. His hands were clasped in front of him. He looked at the setting sun apparently. Now and then he muttered something.

As the fire kindled and the flames leaped higher the crowd yelled with keener delight. Curses were heaped on the poor wretch. The enthusiasm became contagious and spread throughout the vast throng. Only the more passive citizens who stood off failed to cheer. Men danced around the pyre like savages of old going through some tribal ceremonial. The fire began to eat its way to the wretch's flesh. Then, with a shriek that could be heard a long way off, he struck at the flames, as if he would catch hold of them with his hands and keep them off. Again and again he shrieked, and each time the anguished cry of pain was answered by shouts of joy or loud imprecations from the mob. The scene following then is simply indescribable. Clark paid the awful price of his crime.

It was 3:35 o'clock when the fire was lighted, and at seventeen minutes of 4 o'clock he had ceased to move, yet the flames were leaping about his charred body, devouring what was left, though lifeless.

To the last Clark moved his lips in prayer. He was heard to call on the Savior and his mother. His writhing and struggling against the awful torture was pitiable.

It merely illustrates the fact that Mississippi vengeance is more terrible than Mississippi justice.

The following is a list of the crimes which Clark confessed he had committed prior to the murder of Mrs. Whitfield:

Robbed the residence of Dr. Hemphill at French Camp, Miss., and got

IMPORTANT TAX CASE

Opinion of Judge Lightfoot, if Sustained, Means Much.

Steamboats Owned By Non-Residents May Register Here Without Being Subject to Taxation.

A QUESTION OF LONG STANDING

The decision of County Judge Lightfoot Saturday in the back tax case of Auditor's Agent Frank Lucas against the Ayer-Lord Tie company for state taxes claimed to be due on boats registered here is of great importance, and had it gone the other way would doubtless have been the most serious blow struck at the river interests of Paducah for many a year.

Briefly explained, it was claimed that floating stock is subject to taxation wherever its tonnage is registered, which contention was denied by the Ayer-Lord Tie company, which runs a large number of its boats from Paducah up Tennessee river, and pays taxes on them at Chicago.

As the importance of every port is determined by the amount of tonnage registered there, and Paducah is rated at the top, her river prestige would seriously suffer should this tonnage be reduced, and it would have had to be reduced if the decision of the court had been that wherever boats are registered state taxes can be collected, for many of the boats would no longer be registered here.

Judge Lightfoot is the first judge to pass on the question here. It had come up before but was always decided by the authorities without appealing to the courts. If an appeal is taken, it will probably be decided the same way in opinion of many able lawyers.

Captain Baker, of the Ayer-Lord Tie company, stated this morning that the Marguerite recently bought at Cairo, will not be registered here until the question is settled. If the higher courts decide that boats owned by non-residents are taxable wherever registered, the Ayer-Lord company will register its entire fleet at Cairo, instead of Paducah, and thus detract a great deal from the commercial and maritime importance of this port.

ABOUT THE SCHOOLS

Committee Will Select the Course of Study Today.

Library Vote Indicates That the High School Will be Victorious.

Saturday morning a general teachers' meeting was held at the High school building for the purpose of selecting some course of study for the winter.

The teachers always take a course of study and last season selected United States history. This season the selection has not been made, but a committee composed of one teacher from each building was appointed Saturday at the general meeting to select the course and this will be done at a meeting held this afternoon after dismissal. There are several courses under advisement and the following are among them: Pedagogy, English history and English literature.

If the piano is placed in the High school the pupils of that department will have some excellent programs for Friday afternoon exercises. The board members have always complied with the wishes of the teachers in giving them what is absolutely necessary and will not fail to grant this one request, it is assumed.

The library vote was yesterday announced as 72,000 ahead for the High school. The vote closes tomorrow and the vote looks as if the High school will secure the library.

ACCEPTED THE APPOINTMENT.

Detroit, Sept. 29—Gen. Russell A. Alger, formerly secretary of war, today formally accepted Gov. Bliss' tender of the ad interim appointment of United States senator.

TOMORROW THE DAY

Republican Mass Convention at the City Hall at 2:30 P. M.

A List of Good Men for City Officers Will Be Nominated By Republicans.

PROSPECTS FOR NOV. BRIGHT

The Republican city mass convention, to select candidates for city offices to be filled in November, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the city hall, and all Republicans are urged to attend.

Reports that it is already out and dried are false. The name of every candidate presented will receive due consideration, and those who desire to offer names are requested to have no hesitancy in coming out and doing so. It is expected that a large and enthusiastic crowd will turn out.

There is every indication of success in November, and the best material will be put out.

The platform to be adopted will doubtless, as usual, advocate what is best for Paducah's progress, and the gentlemen nominated on it will be fully capable of, and anxious to, carry it out.

ALLEGED CRIMINALS CAUGHT

Louis Bufort Must Answer for Highway Robbery.

Negro Who Used Knucks Made His Escape—Paperhanger in Trouble.

Louis Bufort, colored, was arrested Saturday night on a charge of highway robbery. He is the negro alleged to have robbed Edson Bogard, colored, in the Illinois Central yards last Monday night of $18.70.

He says Bufort did the work, and Bufort remained at large until Saturday night. His case was this morning continued in police court.

George Boaz, colored, was badly hurt, it is alleged, by a pair of brass knucks manipulated by Robert Caldwell yesterday morning. Caldwell escaped and has not been caught. Boaz says they were playing a game of cards "for fun" when he started to leave and Caldwell promptly got up and attacked him with knucks. Drs. Hoyer and Robertson dressed his injuries.

He was at work at Mr. Peter Burnett's residence on Broadway Saturday, and after he left a diamond ring, ruby ring and $1 in money were missed, and have not yet been found. The young man comes of an excellent family, but it is alleged was convicted in the federal court here a few years ago for counterfeiting and given a sentence in the federal prison. He is out under guard.

UPBEAVAL OF WATER

Metropolis Men Witness a Remark- able Sight.

The River Rose for 25 Feet in one Place and Nearly Swamped Them.

Metropolis, Ill., Sept. 29—Eldridge Edwards and Sam Randolph, of East Metropolis, had an experience Thursday night at midnight.

Thursday evening about 6 o'clock they left Silver Cliff upon the Cumberland river, where they had been looking after timber. They were in a skiff and were coming to Metropolis.

About midnight they reached Fort Massac and being very tired and worn out were resting on their oars and floating along quietly. The sky was clear and the river was perfectly calm.

When they were almost directly in front of the Bending works, just below the Fort Massac point there was a sudden muffled sound like an explosion and within 60 feet of their skiff a large volume of water was thrown violently upward as though a marine mine had been fired just below. The water went up something like 25 feet and fell back, deluging them and almost swamping the skiff.

There is all sorts of speculation as to the cause of the water's upheaval. Some say a meteor may have struck in the water but this would probably have been seen by the men in the skiff. Others are of the opinion that the upheaval was caused by natural gas in the earth below the river bed, while many believe that some fishermen fired a charge of dynamite below the surface of the water in order to kill fish.

REFUSED THE OFFER.

$5,000 A DAY RENT OFFERED FOR TENNESSEE FURNACE.

The offer was refused, the company preferring to operate the plant itself. The furnace is the largest in the south, having a capacity of 350 tons per day. About 400 men are employed in connection with it.

AN OLD SORE

Will sour the sweetest disposition and transform the most even tempered, lovable nature into a cross-grained and irritable individual.

If impatience or fault-finding are ever excusable it is when the body is tortured by an eating and painful sore. It is truly discouraging to find after months of diligent and faithful use of external remedies that the place remains as defiant, angry and offensive as ever. Every chronic sore, no matter on what part of the body it comes, is an evidence of some previous constitutional or organic trouble, and that the dregs of these diseases remain in the system; or, it may be that some long hidden poison—perhaps Cancer—has come to the surface and begun its destructive work.

The blood must be purified before the sore will fill up with healthy flesh and the skin regains its natural color. It is through the circulation that the acid, corroding fluids are carried to the sore or ulcer and keep it irritated and inflamed. S. S. S. will purify and invigorate the stagnant blood when all sediment or other hurtful materials are washed out, fresh rich blood is carried to the diseased parts, new tissues form, and the decaying flesh begins to have a healthy and natural look; the discharge ceases and the sore heals.

BIG LOCOMOTIVE.

TEST BEING MADE OF IT FROM CAIRO TO MEMPHIS.

Engine No. 1000 pulled the fast train No. 1 from Cairo to Memphis last night and the people of that division were treated to a sight not often seen in that portion of the country. The engine is one of the biggest engines on the Illinois Central, and is guaranteed to make 100 miles per hour. Already the big machine has made 82 miles per hour on the Central division where it has been running on a test for the past several days. The tank carried 5,000 gallons of water and there are four drivers connected with one trailer wheel. The engine could not run on this division, it is said, as she could not get past the tunnels on the Louisville division of the road.

The two big 600 class freight engines wrecked in the head-end smash up near Dyersburg last week, were brought to the city yesterday for repairs. They are both badly wrecked but not so smashed up as might be expected. They will be repaired as soon as possible. Both are of the same class and exactly alike excepting the numbers. They are the largest freight engines running on this division.

21 YEARS A DYSPEPTIC.

R. H. Foster, 318 South Second street, Salt Lake City, writes: "I have been bothered with dyspepsia or indigestion for 21 years; tried many doctors without relief; recently I got a bottle of Herbine. One bottle cured me. I am now tapering off on the second. I have recommended it to my friends; it is curing them, too." 50c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

COUNTY JUDGE INDICTED.

Louisville, Sept. 29.—The Nicholas county grand jury has indicted County Judge N. H. McNew for misfeasance in office. It is charged that his report to the circuit judge showed only $2 in fines collected, when he had collected $66.50. Judge McNew claims that the indictment is a species of political persecution growing out of his opposition to Circuit Judge Osborne.

RUSH IN SHERIFF'S OFFICE.

Tomorrow is the last day for paying county taxes, and there has been a rush all day in Sheriff Potter's office, and will be a still greater one tomorrow. Many thousands of dollars of taxes have been paid since the first of last week.

A GREEN ONE.

SHE HAD NEVER SEEN A BOAT OR LOCOMOTIVE BEFORE.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 29.—Mrs. James Hulse, from Fall Branch, Tenn., an isolated town in Upper East Tennessee was in Jonesboro this week. She is said to have declared that, though 39 years old and the mother of five children, she had never seen a river, and until she reached Jonesboro she had never gazed upon a railroad track or train and had never walked the streets of a town or city. She has 21 brothers and sisters.

CROUP.

Usually begins with the symptoms of a common cold; there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, hoarseness and impeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup—the child will cry for it—and at the first sign of a croupy cough, apply frequently Ballard's Snow Liniment externally to the throat. 50c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

SUPT. PHILBRICK HERE.

Supt. A. Philbrick, who becomes superintendent of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central Wednesday, was in the city today and made a trip over his new division. Mr. Philbrick has many friends here, who will be pleased to learn that he will hereafter be able to spend more time in Paducah.

BARNES IS SMOOTH

Train Robber at Eddyville's Latest Attempt to Escape.

He Appears to Be Very Innocent and Inoffensive, But Is Desperate.

HAS EIGHT YEARS TO SERVE

Charles Barnes, the train robber who two years ago held up an Illinois Central train near Wickliffe, Ballard county, and secured a large sum of money is said to be the most inoffensive yet the most ingenious and daring prisoner in the branch penitentiary at Eddyville.

Barnes and his brother and a man named Doyle robbed the train and then dropped Doyle out into the Mississippi river. He swam ashore, as mad as he was wet, and "squealed." Charles Barnes was caught but his brother escaped and shortly after trying to hold up another Illinois Central train near Memphis was surrounded by a posse and cut his throat, dying in the swamp.

Charles Barnes was given ten years for the job near Wickliffe.

Hardly had he learned the way from the cell house to the dining room until his inventive brain had concocted a scheme to empty the institution of all the inmates who cared to vacate. Diligence, however, on the part of the prison officials detected crookedness in his movements, and before the attempt was made Barnes was placed in irons, and, for a time at least, trouble was averted. Good behavior soon stood the dare devil in good stead and once the ball and chain were taken off his limbs he set to work on another scheme diametrically opposite to the original, but having for its primary object the same result—freedom. This, too, was intercepted, and for a second time Barnes was made painfully aware that a penal institution might be likened to Owen Meredith's description of hell, "Not what you might suppose: 'tis worse in some respects."

His latest scheme, and by far the most intricate and daring, has just been brought to the attention of the prison officials.

Barnes is leased to the Tennessee Saddle and Harness company, and as the managers have separate manufacturing establishments, he is sometimes sent from one building to another, and is thus from under the observation of the guard.

This opportunity was the one chance for freedom, and subsequent events proved how well he improved it. The prison cells contain a bucket chamber ten by twelve inches, drilled in solid stone, lined with steel, and made to close with a trap door of iron.

The desperate man set to work with tools obtained from the blacksmith shop during the brief intervals given him to go from one building to another, and after working patiently for months, succeeded in drilling the steel back from the chamber. This done, he worked, when an opportunity for work was given him, on the stone wall, and gradually dug two feet in the stone with no other tools save a small chisel and hammer. Only three inches of stone remained between the dangerous criminal and the tunnel when an investigation of his cell was made. Numerous times had the trap door been lifted and a careful inspection of the chamber made, but in this particular Barnes had thrown all of his cunning by preparing a false back, exactly like the real one, which fitted so neatly that the hair of one's head could not have found room between the space.

Had the tunnel been reached the route of the man would have been as easy as an open highway, and by following the underground path he would have gained access to the cell-house, where by braining the night guard he could have secured a weapon without the least possible noise, and, thus equipped, would have been in a position to kill or defy the guard on duty in cellhouse No. 1. The death of the two night guards would have made Barnes master of the situation, and what might have resulted before finally quitting the place can only be conjectured.

HELD OVER FOR TRESPASS.

County Judge Lightfoot, in the case against Lige Ogilvie for tearing down a fence on Foster Darden's property in the county, held the defendant to answer in the sum of $100, the county court having no dual jurisdiction.

ANOTHER COMBINE

Railroad Equipment Manufacturers Form a Company.

The Gigantic Concern Will Have a Capital Stock of $40,000,000, and Control Everything.

ALL PLANTS TO BE UTILIZED

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 29.—A $40,000,000 trust, including the manufacturers of practically all patented articles of railway equipment from car roofs to springs, doors, and brake shoes and beams, is being formed through the efforts of Charles F. Quincy of this city, president of the Q. and C. company, manufacturers of railway equipments, and a brother of President W. B. Leeds of the Rock Island road.

The questions as to the relative amounts of the preferred and common stock, the amount of guaranteed dividends on each, and the choice of officers and directors, have not yet been definitely settled. It is practically certain, however, that Chicago, as by far the most convenient point, will be chosen as headquarters and that branch offices will be maintained in all important cities—those of 100,000 population and over—throughout the United States. There is also no question that at least $40,000,000 will be the total amount of the capital stock.

The companies expected to enter the consolidation have no more plants in operation at the present time than are needed for a proper distribution of supplies, and it is unlikely that any of them will be closed. All are working up to their full capacities and in most cases are fairly overwhelmed with orders.

The principal economy will consist in the closing of the separate general and branch offices which it has hitherto been necessary for each company to maintain, and in the recall of about four-fifths of the salesmen each company has been compelled to keep on the road.

The companies with which negotiations are pending are as follows:

Q. and C. company, Chicago.
Jones Car Door company, Chicago.
Security Car Door company, Chicago.

American Brake Shoe and Foundry company, New York.

Railway Steel Spring company, New York.

Standard Railway Equipment company, St. Louis.

The total amount of the six companies' annual output is in the neighborhood of $25,000,000, and the consolidation will be by far the most important from a railway standpoint, ever effected in the country.

THE WEATHER.

The Republican mass convention tomorrow afternoon at the city hall at 2:30 o'clock should be well attended. There is a good list of candidates to make the selections from, and everybody is urged to come out and if he desires to offer names not already mentioned in connection with the various offices, to do so. The Republicans, together with the good Democrats who have the interests of the city at heart, intend to show under the gang in November and give the city a good set of progressive officers.

The object of combines is neither to restrict production, reduce wages nor increase prices, but to curtail the expenses of production by lopping off offices that are rendered superfluous by consolidation. The proposed consolidation of the two big telegraph companies is an instance. In New York city alone it is estimated $150,000 a year could be saved by consolidating the two offices, and with proportionate curtailments wherever there are now two offices, the saving per annum would be something enormous, and the price of telegrams would not have to be increased a cent, and it is claimed would not be. If the people better understood the workings of these gigantic combines, they would spend less time in futile and foolish complaint against them. Most, if not all, of the big combines, or so-called "trusts" increase their profits by consolidation through a reduction of expenses, not an increase in the price of whatever they manufacture. A reduction of the expenses of operation does not hurt the general public, and so long as it does not the general public should not worry.

The Democratic papers are raising a hubbub over the alleged fact that Senator Harris, of Kansas, is wearing a pair of shoes he paid 20 per cent less for in Europe than he says he pays for the same make at home. There are several interesting questions involved in the case. One is if Senator Harris may not have been an easy mark at home, where he is known, and got worked for more than the shoes really sell for. Another is if he may not for political purposes, have induced some one in Europe to sell him a pair for 20 per cent off, and still another is if he didn't possibly buy a pair of second-hand shoes. It might be possible to also raise the question of whether the senator bought a pair of shoes at all, but being a good Democrat, his veracity cannot of course be questioned. It seems that after sifting the matter down, about the only thing we can be certain of is that Senator Harris wears a pair of shoes.

Everybody who believes that Paducah's harbor is in danger from ice, or anything else, may contribute to the trouble or expense of having a government engineer sent here to make an inspection. When the inspector gets here he will laugh at the silly claims of ice being forced out of the Ohio, straight across the river against the wharf boat, steamers and docks, to grind them to pieces and convert the Kentucky shore to a miniature replica of Labrador. It will be a quarter of a century before any such thing could be possible and if the town cow isn't voted out today, by that time all the best citizens will probably have left and the town turned into a garden patch.

Louisville's county fair was a great success, both financially and socially, and many thousand people saw it. As there has been nothing to approach it in character or importance in this end of the state, the people might begin to think of getting up something like it for Paducah next year, especially as there can be no more carnivals under the management of the Elks, who seem to be the only ones with enterprise enough to make anything a success in Paducah.

Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan it is reported, will receive one million dollars for putting through the L. and N. deal. A great howl will probably go up from the Democratic press over such easy money, but nevertheless there are perhaps few men who do not wish they could financier such a gigantic enterprise, and get a million dollars for it.

Our neighbor on Fourth street ought to wake up. It has been preaching against the town cow for some time, and urging people to vote for its extermination, but judging from Sunday's paper, which said for everybody to turn out Tuesday and vote, didn't even know that the election is today.

The Indians of Indian Territory are preparing to organize for the preservation of their race and identity. They will probably not receive any remarkable amount of enthusiastic encouragement from the outside world.

The consumers are now talking of trying to settle the anthracite coal strike. It is difficult to understand how the strike is going to be settled so long as neither of the principals is willing to settle it.

It seems that a good way to break up the trusts would be to let one of the Kentucky auditor's agents get after them for back taxes and have the courts sustain his very modest demands.

If the town cow only knew what is about to happen to her, she would be feeling mighty blue today.

SOME POLITICAL OBSERVATIONS

There was an old geiser—
His name wasn't Keiser—
Who wanted to be mayor of a fine,
thrifty town;
He fooled some of the folks
And got all their votes,
"I'm elected," said he to his friend,
Frank Brown.

His peculiar ways
Struck all with amazement;
He was cute, he was cunning, mysterious and sly.

No one knew his intent,
But wherever he went
He looked like an over-grown, awkward big guy.

He wanted to remain,
But a remonstrance came
From the people, who said, "We are onto the boy."
He wriggled and squirmed,
But wherever he turned
He met breakers and rebuffs, no matter how coy.

He was afraid of defeat,
So he thought he would beat
The letter and intent of the plain common law;
He appealed to each friend,
But they failed to commend
His actions and began at once to withdraw.

Then he got mad
And such scenes as were had
At the meetings which were held at the big city hall!

He called every one liars,
And then he retires
To his home to lie down and have a big bowl.

Goodbye, my old friend;
Stay at home and amend
Your ways, and be frank and candid and fair.

It will add to your health
As well as your wealth,
And save reputation from much needed repair.

Mary Moore and others this morning filed a suit in circuit court against John L. Jones, the installment house man, to recover a total damages of $157.75.

The petition states that the plaintiff bought some goods from the defendant and after the said purchase was made wanted to move to Kuttawa. The defendant would not let them move the goods, as all the payments had not been made, but agreed that the stuff be stored in his house until the remaining payments had been made. This was done, the petition states, and the defendant has never produced the goods. Judgment is asked for the value of the goods and also for damages, the total amounting to $157.75.

INVITATION ON SCALP.

(Los Angeles Telegram to the Chicago Record-Herald.)

Charles Meadows, better known as "Arizona Charley," has forwarded to President Roosevelt a unique invitation to join his expedition to Tiburon Island, that mysterious land off the coast of Mexico in the Gulf of Lower California into the interior of which it is said, no white man has ever penetrated. It consisted of the scalp of an Apache Indian, the text of the invitation being inscribed on a small metal shield which was riveted to the scalp.

With a band of forty or more adventurers who have had experience upon the cattle ranges of Arizona, Meadows will leave Los Angeles about October 1 for Guaymas, and, procuring a small sloop, will proceed to the island.

The scalp is that of Apache chieftain named Juan Dazen, who, with 60 of his redskin raiders, was killed at Canyon Creek, adjoining Crescent Valley, in 1884, by a party of thirty men, composed of the Tewksbury brothers, the Meadows brothers and a number of cow punchers.

ONLY A MOOCHER.
ATTORNEY L. K. TAYLOR HAS A VERY DISAGREEABLE EXPERIENCE.

Attorney L. K. Taylor was a very indignant man the other day. He was at home enjoying an afternoon nap, when his telephone rang, and he was informed by his office boy that a gentleman named Smith, he will be called, was there to see him, and wanted to know when he would be back. Attorney Taylor had an appointment with a gentleman from Marshall county by that name, on important business and thinking it was he, replied that he would be there immediately. He hastily had his horse hitched and drove down, abandoning his nap.

When he reached his office he found only a well known "moocher" waiting for him. He called the lawyer into the back room and asked him if he couldn't loan him half a dollar.

Attorney Taylor was too mad to say anything except that he couldn't.

CAVE FOUND.

LEITCHFIELD MAN DISCOVERS SUBTERRANEAN PASSAGE.

Leitchfield, Ky., Sept. 29.—While drilling for a well near here, Will McClure, a jeweler, discovered a subterranean cavern, whose dimensions have not yet been determined. He first struck a room about 40x60 feet and from eight to ten feet high. Passages lead from the chamber east and west, also contain divergent passages, and the end of these has not yet been reached.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

THAT LAEVISON'S PALE ALE AND IRON-TONE ARE NON-INTOXICATING.

Another victory has been scored by the A. M. Laevison bottling works regarding their mild drinks. Mr. F. Melton, the well known merchant of Mayfield, Ky., who has been handling "Iron-Tone" and "Pale Ale," manufactured by A. M. Laevison and Co., was tried before Judge Webb, of Mayfield, day before yesterday on the charge of dispensing intoxicating liquors in violation of the local option law. After hearing the evidence and testing the "Pale Ale" and "Iron-Tone," Judge Webb immediately dismissed the case, and informed Mr. Melton the drinks were non-intoxicating and he could sell them at his pleasure. This is further conclusive proof added to the heretofore favorably rendered decisions holding Laevison's drinks non-intoxicating.

NEW INDUSTRY.

REPORTED THAT PADUCAH WILL SHORTLY HAVE A WHEEL FACTORY.

It is claimed that Paducah is shortly to have a wheel factory. Mr. J. W. Little, the spoke factory proprietor, and several Cincinnati capitalists have about decided to establish the new factory near the Illinois Central depot between Little and Worten's Additions. The plant will have a capacity of about 50,000 wheels a year and employ at the start about 60 people.

RAISED FROM THE DEAD.

C. W. Landis, porter for the Oriental hotel, Chanute, Kansas, says: "I know what it was to suffer with neuralgia, 'dood I did, and I got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment and I was 'raised from the dead.' I tried to get some more, but before I had 'deposed' of my bottle I was cured, entirely. I am telling 'de truth too.' 25c, 50c and $1 at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

NOT A FISH STORY.

BUT A TALE OF MANY FROGS IN INDIANA.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 29.—The streets of Michigan City were found Saturday to be literally alive with frogs. The streets and lawns were completely covered with frogs of all sizes, from the normal down to those no larger than a pea. The people are unable to offer any explanation for the strange phenomenon.

DEVoured BY WORMS.

Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food is not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much to the surprise and joy of the mother. 25c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.
